Celebrities have to look good all the time regardless of whether it is about their clothes or hairstyles. They know that common people tend to copy celebrity hairstyles, which makes them extra cautious about it.

You see them all over the place- magazine covers, television, and movies with long and sexy hairstyles. Some celebrities are trendsetters while others would rather not spring surprises and stick to a couple of safe styles that they know looks good on them. If you are one of those who love to copy their favorite celebrities, the encouraging news is that you can achieve these long celebrity hairstyles just in a matter of hours.

The solution lies in hair extensions made from natural Indian hair that can be attached directly to your own hair using one of the various methods. Hair extensions are a quick fix solution for a number of hair issues such as thinning hair or a bad haircut or just to give yourself one of those long celebrity hairstyles without having to wait for your own hair to grow. The technique of installing these hair extensions has been perfected over time, and it looks like as if they grew out of your own scalp.

Hair extensions are not a one size fits all type of product as there is one for practically every need. They come in different shapes and sizes with different methods of attaching them. You can get loose or bulk hair for selective applications to address areas where the hair is thinning. You also have hair extensions in varying lengths from 10 inches to 36 inches. You can sew them in, attach them with hair glue, or clip them on to your hair.

Longs curls are among the most popular celebrity hairstyles for 2011 and short hair is out. If you want long curls, you can easily jazz up your own hair or try using hair extensions that can be attached to your short hair or add length to your already curly tresses.

Before you buy hair extensions, you need to do some serious research to determine whether they are right for you and that you understand what is involved in installing and maintaining them and how much they cost.

Regardless of the celebrity hairstyle you wish to copy, getting the right look depends on the method of installing a hair extension that's best suited for your hair. You can consult a hairstylist in your area to know what type of hair extensions are the best.

Hair extensions may be made from synthetic hair or human hair. There are some problems with synthetic hair as it has certain limitations and does not lend well to heat and tends to get damaged due to friction frizz. The best hair extensions are made from natural hair, particularly Indian hair. Indian hair that goes in to make hair extensions is inherently versatile and lends well to all types of hairstyles that you may wish to adopt.
